Subject	CubelQ Announces Adverse Media Database Enhancements

CubelQ Announces ComplyAdvantage[™] adverse media database enhancements.

To insure that you do not miss any adverse media risks ComplyAdvantage[™] adverse media articles database has been enhanced to include FATF predicate offenses.

These articles have begun to be added to adverse media articles database on the Friday 12th of June 2020.

This enhancement is part of ComplyAdvantage[™] constant focus on adding relevant data on the Adverse Media database that gives you the confidence in being notified of important risks.

If you include adverse media in your search filters, as a result of this release you will potentially find more true adverse profiles in your searches.

If you are monitoring searches with adverse media in the search filters, there will be an increase in daily alerts for monitored searches with adverse media for several weeks. The specific level of increase in your alerts will be highly dependent on your specific searches and search settings, as well as your regional focus.
